Announcements

Thank you to everyone who came out to Archaeology Day on Saturday, March 15th. With an attendance of over 80 people, the Digital Archaeology Symposium was the biggest Archaeology Day yet. The day was full of very interesting talks that demonstrated the many ways in which archaeology is beginning to mature and push the boundaries of applying digital techniques for studying the past. A special thank you to our keynote speaker, Dr. Fred Limp from the University of Arkansas, who delivered the Annual Charles lecture and not only overviewed the multitudes of new digital approaches to archaeology but also provided theoretical context for their application and a cautionary discussion of the potential misuse of new methods. We would also like to thank the Faculty of Arts for sponsoring the event. Thank you also to the event organizers, Kevin Fisher, Bryn Letham, and Patricia Ormerod. And perhaps most importantly, a huge thank you to all the volunteers that made the event run smoothly: Rowen Shier, Ale Diaz, Mariko Adams, Chenise McClarty, Margareta Dovgal, Almira Walde-Ranaud, Erinn Dunlop, Scherene Auchterlonie, Katie Roth, Caitlin Miller, Kav Golka, Tiffany Tse, Jan McRobb, and Tia Sager! We look forward to seeing you all next year!
