The Future of Heritage Studies: Student Paper Session WAC Intercongress 22-25 June 2011
Indianapolis, IA, USA
Students naturally represent the next generation of practitioners in heritage studies, and are frequently at the fore of new research—theory, method, and practice alike. To honour the unique role that students play in the disciplines of anthropology, archaeology, museum studies, and beyond, the World Archaeological Congress invites all students to participate in a special Student Paper Session at the 2011 Intercongress in Indianapolis.
This session aims to showcase the diversity of innovative and exciting student research being undertaken across the globe. In a comfortable and encouraging atmosphere, the session will bring students together with professionals, providing a forum to share ideas and insight, and offering a glimpse of what the future of heritage studies may hold.

EXHIBITS
From the late 1800s to the early 1900s, Charles and Isabella Edenshaw produced Haida art that continues to inspire the finest Haida artists of today, many of whom are their descendants. What is the aesthetic that makes their work recognizable and so respected? How has it remained contemporary for more than 100 years? This exhibit, presented in The O’Brian Gallery at MOA, addresses these and other questions by highlighting Charles Edenshaw’s engraved silver bracelets, as well as his wife Isabella’s basketry, which Charles painted. Media Sponsor The Georgia Straight.

At Satellite Gallery: Rebecca Belmore, From Feb 4 to April 10, Rebecca Belmore’s The Named and the Unnamed (2002) will be shown at Satellite Gallery (560 Seymour Street). This powerful installation incorporates a video of Vigil that Belmore performed at the corner of Gore and Cordova Streets on June 23, 2002. The Named and the Unnamed is in polemical commemoration of the women who have gone missing in the downtown east side of Vancouver, and a reflection on the larger implications of this local event. The installation is presented in conjunction with the exhibition Faces: Works from the Permanent Collection at the Morris and Helen Belkin Art Gallery, Jan 14-Apr 10. Satellite Gallery is a Michael O'Brien Family Foundation project with partners the Morris and Helen Belkin Art Gallery and the Museum of Anthropology at UBC, and Presentation House Gallery.
